Fall is the Perfect time for Sweet Potatoes!

Ingredients:

Two 8-ounce sweet potatoes, scrubbed

2 teaspoons olive oil

Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper

Unsalted butter, for serving

Chopped fresh chives, for serving

Special equipment:

a 6-quart air fryer

1. Toss the sweet potatoes with the oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a few grinds of pepper in a medium bowl until evenly coated.
2. Place the potatoes in the basket of a 6-quart air fryer. Cook at 400 degrees F until crispy on the outside and tender on the inside, flipping halfway through, 35 to 40 minutes.
3. Cut lengthwise along the top of each potato, being careful of the hot steam, then fluff the inside with a fork and season with a pinch of salt. Top with a pat of butter and chopped fresh chives.

The Second Biggest Diamond Found...

Massive diamonds are hard to find. In fact, the last enormous diamond was unearthed more than a century ago. But in August, miners in Botswana finally hit paydirt.

Miners for Lucara Diamond Corp. uncovered a 1 pound, 2,492-carat diamond from the Karowe mine, located about 300 miles north of the Botswana capital of Gaborone.

The find is second only to the 3,106-carat Cullinan diamond, found in South Africa in 1905 and was cut into smaller stones for the English crown jewels. Another diamond from the same mine, the 813-carat Constellation diamond, sold for a record $63 million in 2016.

X-rays and precision grinding techniques are making large diamonds easier to find than ever.

Frequently Asked Questions

Do I Really need to rotate my tires? The answer is YES! Rotating your tires will help extend the life of your tires.

Today's tires have become so trouble-free that many drivers ignore them completely, skipping critical inspections and maintenance procedures until there is a problem. Among the steps often ignored is tire rotation.

Tire Rotation Defined --- Tire rotation involves moving tires from one position on a vehicle to another. A common tire rotation would move the front tires to the rear, and the tires at the rear of the vehicle to the front, but it depends on your vehicle type. →

How Often Should I Rotate My Tires?

Typically, tire rotation is called for every 5,000 to 7,500 miles, though there are exceptions. Again, the owner's manual will spell out what should be done for your vehicle.

Why Rotate Tires?

Tire rotation is undertaken to ensure that the tires wear evenly. This can extend tire life and save you money.

Even tire wear is also important for balanced handling. For example, failure to rotate tires on a front-wheel-drive vehicle will eventually result in the front tires having significantly less tread than the rear tires. In an emergency, this could make the vehicle more difficult to control, especially if the road is wet.

Your brake system is a critical safety feature in your vehicle

Yikes! Front brakes locked up again!

Don't wait until your brakes make funny noises, start grinding or pedal starts pulsating to have them inspected. Worn brake pads or other braking components can result in longer stopping distances, which is a safety concern.

Regular checks of your brakes and brake components may save you money on your next brake service.

If you're hearing unusual sounds when you brake or if your brake pedal is feeling squishy or too hard, have us do a disc brake inspection for you. We'll tell you if there's something wrong and what it'll take to get your brakes back to where they should be.

Call 215-222-5703 and schedule an appointment, we will inspect the entire brake system of your vehicle.

Our Clients Say It Best

“Excellent service, with no returns to rework defective workmanship. They do it right the first time, every time. They are not inexpensive, but you definitely get what you pay for. Since your repairs are correct the first time, they last longer and provide you with peace of mind.”

“I talked to Wayne about my a/c problem. He gave me facts about what could be wrong. I brought the car in and less than two hours later I got the call to pick it up. The a/c works fine now.”

This Month's Funny Bone

After a long and exhausting day, a young woman finally settled into her seat on the train, hoping for a peaceful ride home. She closed her eyes, ready to drift into some much-needed rest.

But her hopes were quickly dashed by the man sitting next to her, who whipped out his phone and began speaking loudly enough for the entire train car to hear.

“Hi, sweetheart, it's John! I'm on the train,” he announced.

“Yes, I know it's 6:30, not 4:30, but I had a long meeting.”

“No, honey, I wasn't with Cathy from Accounts—I was with the boss, I swear.”

“You're the only one in my life. Yes, I'm sure, dear.”

For a solid fifteen minutes, the conversation dragged on, his voice dominating the space and testing the patience of everyone around him.

Finally, the young woman had enough. She leaned in close to him, then spoke loudly into his phone:

“John, darling, hang up and come back to bed already.”

The train car erupted into laughter, and John's face turned bright red. He hung up instantly.

And from that day on, John never made another loud phone call in public.
